One is a litter of Dalmatians, and the other is a litter of corgis." Nick and his parents looked at one another for a moment. Then, Nick said, "I'm pretty sure we don't have enough room in our home for a Dalmatian. Could we look at the corgi puppies?" "That sounds sensible," Mom said. The Doctor Who Saved London

In the city of London about 150 years ago, many people started to get very sick. The sickness they had was called ‘cholera’. The disease caused panic among Londoners because nobody knew how to prevent it, or how to cure it. Lots of doctors tried to find out how to prevent people from getting cholera. Most doctors thought that people got cholera from breathing in polluted air. They told their patients to open their windows and breathe in fresh air as much as possible. However, this advice did not seem to work as more and more people contracted the disease.

Dr. Snow went to different neighborhoods in London and tested their water. He also counted the number of sick people in each neighborhood. Ancient Egyptians and Greeks used to eat flat bread topped with olive oil and other things. Early Italians baked bread under hot stones. Then they topped the bread with spices and other ingredients. The pizza we know began in 1889. It was made by Raffaele Esposito in Naples, Italy, in honor of a visiting king and queen.
